DETAILED ACTION

This is the First Office Action in response to the above identified patent application filed on February 15, 2007.

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

3. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because the implied phrase "The present invention is" (line 1) must be removed. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

Art Unit: 3656

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

a. Claim 1, line 1, the term "variator" positioned between brackets is not fully understood.

b. Claim 1, line 2, the addition of the word "type" to an otherwise definite expression extends the scope of the expression so as to render it indefinite. Ex parte Copenhaver, 109 USPQ 118 (Bd. App. 1955).

c. Claim 2, line 2, and elsewhere, the limitation "the crown" lacks proper antecedent basis because a convex profile may not be a "crown."

d. Claim 3, line 3, and elsewhere, the limitation "the center plane" lacks proper antecedent basis.

e. Claim 4, last line, the limitation "the variator axis" lacks proper antecedent basis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Art Unit: 3656

7. Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Jackman (USP 4,126,052) or Von Kreudenstein (USP 2,619,841).

Jackman and Von Kreudenstein appear to illustrate a roller for a continuously variable ratio device of the full toroidal in which a pair of races mounted for rotation about a common axis together define a substantially toroidal cavity and the roller is disposed in the cavity and runs upon the races to transfer drive between them, the roller having an outer perimeter which, viewed in a sectional plane containing the roller axis, has a convex profile and which is not symmetrical about any plane perpendicular to the roller axis, the largest diameter of the roller crown is offset from the mid point of the crown, the roller crown is an arc of a notional circle whose centre is offset from the centre plane, defined as the plane perpendicular to the roller axis containing the mid point of the crown.
